SHOALS HEARINGS MAY CONTINUE FOR SOME

CURT REFUSAL OF U. S. TO TAKE HAND PUTS COLD WATER ON GENOA PARLEY

Conference May Be Postponed
Or Called Off Entirely As Result

NOTE OF AMERICAN
NOTE IS SURPRISING

Secretary Hughes Failed To Take Advantage Of Diplomatic Language

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 9.—The Genoa conference, scheduled to meet
one month from tomorrow, may be postponed, or called off entirely, as a result of the somewhat curt refusal of the United States to participate,
according to the views privately expressed today in official and diplomatic quarters here.

While it had been expected that the reply of this government would be unfavorable to acceptance, there had been no expectation that the American note would throw so much cold water
on the whole proposition.

Instead of fencing around with diplomatic phrases to soften the blow,
Secretary of State Hughes took the bull by the horns and unquestionably characterized the whole Genoa conference as a "conference of political character in which the United States could not helpfully participate."

This constitutes little less than a rebuke, it was pointed out today, besides calling attention to the world
to the fact that the United States believes the project to be masquerading under false pretenses, while purporting to be an "economic and financial parley" when in reality it is a political gathering, called to promote political ends.

France is already known to be lukewarm to the Genoa project because of the inclusion of Germany and Russia in the list of invited guests. The upshot of the American refusal to sit in is expected in Washington to be a stiffening of the French opposition,
with the result that the British-Italian promoters may call off the meeting entirely.

INTEREST HIGH IN SCHOOL FIELD DAY

Interest in the Field Day exercises
which are to be held at Hartselle
April 7, increase as the time draws near. The exercises this year promise to be of more general interest if possible than those held previous to this time. The beginning of the program is marked by a school parade, consisting of all the schools of the county
in alphabetical order, which is always an imposing sight and never fails to elicit great enthusiasm as the thousands of future citizens of the county expressed in this mass of happy buoyant humanity, with radiant smiles on their faces and happiness in their hearts march by, making a picture
true to life which is well worth seeing.
It represents the stored up power
of youth that broadens under the enlightenment of instruction imparted to them in the public schools and higher institutions of the county, and is one of the best arguments extant
that the future well being of the country will be sacredly guarded.

Committee Will Solicit Funds

Announcement was made today that the athletic committee of the teachers association will make a campaign this afternoon to get as many prizes as possible to be given to winners in events at the school's field day program in Hartselle in April. One hundred and fifty prizes are sought by the committee. Members are: F. D.
Dowdy, E. E. Weaver and F. E. Burleson.

CLEMENCY APPEAL IS BEFORE BOARD

(Montgomery Bureau,
Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 9.—
Several citizens of Birmingham will appear before the state board of pardons Friday afternoon in an appeal
for the commutation to life imprisonment of the death sentence imposed on Tom Lambert, convicted of the murder of his sweetheart, Miss Martha Gilliland in Birmingham. Unless Governor Kilby intercedes Lambert
will be hanged March 17.

The supreme court several weeks ago affirmed the sentence of the trial court and set March 17 as the date for the execution. Information came from Birmingham today that Lambert's mother had arrived from Georgia and had brought with her an appeal of citizens of Georgia for the commutation of the death sentence.
A Sunday school class of which Lambert was a member before the crime
was committed also has appealed for the reduction of the sentence, contending that the crime was not premeditated.

Before Governor Kilby will give any consideration to the appeal for commutation the board of pardons will be required to make its recommendation.

Wilcox Solicitor In Good Showing

(Montgomery Bureau,
Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 9.—
John Miller, of Camden, member of the state senate and county solicitor
of Wilcox county, obtained convictions
in all but one case at the recent term
of the circuit court of Lamar county,
according to a report submitted to Harwell G. Davis, attorney general, today.

Senator Miller was sent to Lamar county to take the place of J. M. Pennington, circuit solicitor, who was forced to be present at the trial of a large number of cases in Walker
county, growing out of the coal strike
in 1920 and 1921.

Plans Are Rushed For Development of Asphalt Here

Recent removal of asphalt development over the Tennessee Valley, notice
of which was chronicled in The Daily
several days ago, now seem to be well authenticated, as development is being made at different points of the district along lines which promise that this wealth of the earth may soon be brought into use on the proposed roads
soon to be begun in this county and elsewhere. It is known that plenty of money is back of the enterprise,
and it is understood that three stations for the development will be made
at stated places over the district.

FLYING SQUADRON BEGINS SERIES OF FREE LECTURES IN FIRST METHODIST

Regan And Calvin Speak To Large Audience At The Church

PLAN TO NULLIFY DRY
LAWS IS ATTACKED

Speaker Explains How 'Vote Of Congress May Increase Alcoholic Contents

A striking picture made in colors
now appears before the door of the First Methodist church in Decatur, bearing the legend "They shall not come back." Those forbidden a return, are four pictured personalities—
first, a red nosed drunkard, second his heart broken wife, and third and fourth the deformed children.

Frank Regan, of Illinois, formerly in the legislature of that state, and a recognized authority on taxes, drew
the picture referred to as he lectured at the First Methodist church last night at 7:30 o'clock. "On our tax problem." Mr. Regan was preceded by Dr. D. L. Colvin, of Columbia University, and both are members of the famous "flying squadron" formed by Governor Handley of Indiana in 1915. To all practical purposes the flying squadron speakers are "Anti-Saloon League" speakers, but with the task, in addition to advocating prohibition, of emphasizing the absolute necessity of law enforcement, social purity and social justice.

Dr. C. C. Davison, pastor of the First Baptist church introduced the speakers, after a short song service.
Dr. Colvin laid bare the scheme of the liquorites, in seeking the return
of liquor via "wines and beer."

He made a vigorous attack on Samuel Gompers, as did also Mr. Regan, for the stand that executive of the American Federation of Labor is reported to have taken for beer and wine, Mr. Colvin saying that "when such a powerful organization takes such a stand it is high time the American people were up and doing."

This speaker explained how by a
"bare majority in Congress" the Volstead act might be nullified; saying that "redefinition" of what intoxicating liquor is, was the key by which the "corrupt whiskey element hoped to open the flood gates of hell once again." It was explained that while the supreme court had held that over one-half of one percent alcohol constituted an unlawful alcoholic beverage, that it had also left matters
where the Congress could still redefine
what "liquor is," and that the whiskeyites hoped to win Congress to where 5 percent to 10 percent, and even higher percentages of alcoholic drinks could be sold as non-intoxicants, and then prevent the supreme court from ever ruling on the decision

NORTH TONAWANDA COMMERCIAL BODY FAVORS FORD'S BID FOR SHOALS PLANT

Chamber of Commerce Directors Pass Resolution Favorable to the Offer

CONGRESSMEN ARE ASKED TO AID WORK

Result of Paynes' Letter Shows
What Individual's Can Accomplish

A letter from Frederick Robertson
and company, bankers of North Tonawanda, New York, in reply to Mayor E. C. Payne, who had written him regarding Muske Shoals, says:
"I received your letter containing information about the Muske Shoals proposition and presented same to our chamber of commerce board of directors. They passed a resolution directing the secretary to communicate at once with our congressmen urging the acceptance of the Ford offer suggested by you. I would be glad to do anything I can to urge this measure as I believe you are in a position to know
as much about the situation as anyone in the country, and I know you have the interest of the whole people at heart."

This is a section where the people have suffered from the monstrous Niagara Falls hydro-electric combination and goes to show what will probably happen here if Ford fails to have his bid accepted. The reply also shows what effective work may be done by individuals who will put the matter
by letter in its true light before their Republican friends in the North.
Hope was expressed here today that other individuals may take up and carry forward this kind of work. It was declared that individual letters to northern friends can accomplish much good for the Shoals project in the campaign for acceptance of Henry Ford's bid.

Aluminum Ware Being Given Away With the Range

Giving away with the range $9.00
worth of aluminum ware with each purchase of a range at the Morgan interested buyers. Mr. Holder, the factory representative, is here and takes much pleasure in carefully explaining the advantages his range offers. Hot coffee and sandwiches are being served free of charge.

Patterson Will Sell Hogs Raised On His Own Farm

That the pure bred hog industry is gaining ground in the county is revealed in the fact that there will be a hog sale conducted on the premises of J. B. Patterson at La-con some time soon, consisting of pure bred gilts and other pure bred stock. There hogs were bred on the farm of Mr. Patterson and is the first time perhaps in the history
of the county that an advertised sale of pure bred, home raised swine has been offered to the public.

In addition to having this number for sale, Mr. Patterson killed 2,000 pounds of fine pork last week,
being the third or fourth killing he has made the present season. This is a beginning in the right direction. When corn and meat are raised in sufficient quantities to supply the local demand with some
to sell, then can the country be said
to be getting on a solid foundation.
This effort should be duplicated by every farmer who has the opportunity afforded him to stock up on pure bred hogs, and go at the business in a business-like manner, and they can be assured of reaping the success which has come to others
who have followed a like procedure.

BROWN WOULD BE STATE TREASURER

(Montgomery Bureau,
Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 9.—
C. G. Brown, treasurer of Russell county and a well known citizen of his section, today made formal announcement of his candidacy for state treasurer. Until he filed his declaration with William P. Cobb, secretary of state, in compliance with the corrupt practice act his name had not been mentioned in connection with the campaign and it had been thought George W. Ellis, former state treasurer and at present chief clerk of the treasury department, would be elected without opposition.

Mr. Brown informed the secretary of state that he had filed his declaration with the chairman of the state Democratic executive committee. Mr.
Ellis filed his statement several weeks ago, and announced that at the proper time he would make a state campaign.
Congressman Henry B. Steagall, of Ozark, representative of the third district, made his declaration as a candidate for re-election. He named himself as the person to handle all funds which will be used in the promotion of his political interests.

Other candidates who filed their statements under the corrupt practice act follow: Ben G. Perry, Bessemer
re-election as solicitor of Bessemer
division of Jefferson circuit court; Mayor B. C. Jones, of Bessemer, for judge of Bessemer division; R. L.
Blanton, of Jasper, for circuit judge
of fourteenth circuit.

Issue Warrant For Missing Officer

(International News Service)

BIRMINGHAM, March 9.—Efforts to re-arrest T. C. Dews, Jr., former federal prohibition officer, indicted for second degree murder, who failed to appear when his case was called in United States district court Wednesday, were underway today when J. R.
Tate, solicitor in charge of the prosecution, issued warrants for the absent
defendant, who is reported to be in prison in Atlanta, Ga.

Dews, together with W. E. Banks,
M. W. Dews and J. B. Thompson, former Birmingham policemen, are charged jointly with the murder of Curtis Tidmore, Blount county farmer, who was shot to death five months ago near Birmingham, while coming
to this city with a load of vegetables.
The trial is scheduled to begin at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

'HARD LUCK' VET TO GET TRAINING

(Montgomery Bureau,
Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 9.—
John Clement, of Bibb county, who served through the world war and participated in three major engagements without receiving a scratch and who lost his right arm at the shoulder
as a result of a mule bite within four weeks after his discharge, will be given vocational training at the agricultural school at Greensboro as a result of a program of co-operation worked out by the state board of education and citizens of Birmingham.

The state board of education will pay for the training while citizens of Birmingham, including students of the two business colleges there, have subscribed $252 which will pay for Clement's subsistence while taking the training. After Clement has received a thorough course in poultry raising
there will be sufficient money to start
him in business.

T. O. Hutto, of the veterans' bureau at Birmingham, President Fuller, of the agricultural school at Greensboro,
and war students in training at Greensboro, led by Sidney E. Manning, the only Alabama man who won the congressional medal of honor,
co-operated in raising the funds.

Because Clement was not wounded
during the war he could not be trained by the government but his case could come under the industrial rehabilitation act. Although having only one arm, when found he was attempting to run a plow on the small farm owned by his father in Bibb county. The state will provide him with an artificial arm.

Agent Supports Rate Schedule

(Montgomery Bureau,
Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 9.—
Charles Barham, of Nashville, general
freight agent of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, gave testimony before the public service commission Wednesday in support of the schedules of rates proposed by Alabama railroads on cement and kindred building products. Mr. Barham was on the stand a greater part of the day, his testimony being a part of the general hearing on the commission's citation to all railroads to show
why there should not be a general readjustment and revision of all intrastate class and commodity rates in Alabama.

It is frequently remarked, and heard on many sides that the farm don't pay. This is quite true in many instances, and it is not true in others. There are many farms of Morgan county that are paying farms, but, they are run on a paying basis. That is, the men who operate them cultivate the land with the view of always having something to sell instead of something to buy. The writer knows of farms in Morgan county where never a trip is made to market unless something of value is carried in exchange for what the farmer needs which he cannot grow on his farm. The produce which he has to sell is expressed in such articles as eggs, chickens, a pork or beef any time of the year, honey, corn, hay, potatoes and numerous articles. These things are the product of the farm and are supposed to be raised there. They are raised there in surplus quantities on the paying farm, and therein is the difference between a non-paying farm and a paying one. The time is too far gone already when the farms of the Southland are not self sustaining. They can be made so, and when it becomes a reality, better farms and better contented and happy people will be the result. He will be his own master, because he will be independent, made so by a program of always having something to sell in exchange for what he desires to buy.

THE RECORDS SPEAKS FOR ITSELF.

President Harding, when asked to comment on the achievements of the first year of his administration, replied that the record of the administration speaks for itself.

In view of the President's preference for the public to draw its own conclusions, he must accept the verdict without quibble.

History fails to record an administration whose negative record can approach that of the Harding administration.

At no other time has there been such a lack of decision. In no other similar period has there been such a lack of leadership. In no other similar period has there been such a failure to grasp the details of government. Both the Congress and the President lack of definite and fixed policy on domestic and foreign affairs. At times, the pulling and hauling of the majority leaders and the administration head would be ludicrous if the result were not fraught with such disastrous consequences for the country.

The failure of the administration is all the more apparent in view of the great opportunity it has had to prove itself. There has been no minority opposition to speak of. The votes to put through any domestic or foreign program it was capable of outling were there for the asking. The responsibility is centered.

Cordell Hull, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, offers this comment on the first year of the administration:

The patent failure of the chief Republican policies and the astonishing breakdown of the reactionary leadership after March 4, 1921, constitute the chief characteristics of the twelve months of the Harding administration. The first year of this administration will always be notable for its failures rather than its successes.

Having, for temporary political advantage, helped to create conditions now so grievously complained of by the people, Republican leaders are estopped from asking to be excused for their failure to remedy them.

Bread lines, soup kitchens and long lines of unemployed are vivid reminders of Republican incapacity.

This is the result of one year of Harding. It is a record that truly speaks for itself.—Nashville Tennessean.

THE BEST SPOT ON EARTH IS
THE 'GREAT AMERICAN HOME'

In no country on earth is the home held so sacred as in America. "The Great American Home" stands unique among the institutions of the earth, for around it is woven the fabric that makes America great. It is the thing Americans have in mind when they go forth to battle. The defense of home and loved ones stirs to greatest effort the American man. This pre-eminently is a country of homes, and as such it has a foundation which will stand the test of time.

The Albany-Decatur Daily says: "A home is the best spot on earth." This is true. The same paper goes more into detail on the home matter and it paints a picture of the great American home that is very true to life. It says:

"Home, the place where weary souls find a calm harbor. Home, the place of confidence, and love and joy. Home, the place of all places, around the altars of which is emblazoned in never dying emblems the things that enter into life and eternity. No wonder the early pioneers were so persistent in making the home, the sacred spot it should be. Often one wanders back to the home of childhood to look again through the dusty window panes to catch again the setting of the scenes of childhood and memory with a mellowness generated through the years comes to our command, and we are entranced and delighted as we revel in childhood's fancy."

The word picture painted above is that of a typical American home. There are homes that are mere mockeries, that have none of the finer things that go to make home life what it should be. These are the exceptions. The real American home, in cottage or in mansion, is a place where true affection abides and where the family ties are held inviolate and are protected. This country has in its home life, its greatest power and its most glorious promise for the future.—Anniston Star.

GEN. GOETHALS' WORK AT MUSCLE SHOALS
IS RECALLED IN THE ENGSTRUM PROPOSAL

The announcement that the distinguished engineer, George W. Goethals, former major general in the United States army and builder of the Panama canal after others had failed to build it, has been engaged by Frederick E. Engstrum of North Carolina, to direct construction work at Muscle Shoals if Engstrum gets the project, recalls a bit of Muscle Shoals history.

Lieutenant George W. Goethals did probably his first engineering work for the government at Muscle Shoals and at the real Muscle Shoals at that. Thirty-five years ago the government began the construction of a steamboat canal around the shoals in the Tennessee river, nine miles above Florence. The real shoals, known for a century as Muscle Shoals, are some distance above the town called Muscle Shoals and the Wilson dam. The lower end of the shoals is probably nine miles above Florence and the upper end is fourteen miles further up the Tennessee. The canal built by the government, and which stands today as a monument to the engineering ability of Gen Goethals, is nearly 20 miles long, several of the locks being on the north side of the river and the others on the opposite side.

While in charge of the Muscle Shoals canal building, Lieutenant Goethals was made a captain. Upon the completion of the canal he was sent to Panama and there honors came to him rapidly as his great ability was demonstrated in the gigantic task laid out for him and successfully carried forward. While directing the Tennessee river canal work Gen. Goethals made his headquarters in Florence and he and his charming wife made hosts of friends among the fine people of that part of the state. Engaged in the engineering work about Florence, under Goethals, was Sidney Williamson, who later went with Gen. Goethals to Panama and who had an important part in the great work on the Isthmus. He also won promotion and later was in charge of government engineering and reclamation work in the Southwest, with headquarters at Denver.

If Mr. Engstrum should secure the Muscle Shoals project, he undoubtedly would have a very valuable director of the work in General Goethals, who bears the distinction of being the foremost American civil engineer. And it would be like a return to old times for General Goethals again to go to Florence in charge of a work with which he is so familiar, and where he won his first fame as a successful government engineer.—Anniston Star.

The best is not always the most outspoken; there is the silent current that carries almost irresistibly.

When tempest and fury are encountered the best effort is to turn to the nose of the ship into the wind, likewise when the tempests of life are encountered, straight ahead is the course. It may be hard sailing but it develops.

To refuse to press against the tide is an acknowledgment of weakness.

Every day brings some new idea which gives the opportunity to develop. If used, valuable information is stored up for future use.

Untempered mortar will not do to use in building; untempered lives know nothing of the truer forms of love and affection; they are cold and calloused.

Temperamental lives are full of sentiment; it cannot always be judged where it exists.

They who live close to nature and feel daily the pulsations of its great warm heart, get mighty close to the maker of each. They are each closely akin.

The Muscle Shoals project has got to be a regular Gaston and Alphonso affair. Really its up to you dear Gaston. I beg your pardon, its up to you Alphonso. In the final analysis, neither get the credit or share the blame.

Prohibitionists say that the recent alleged discoveries that the Volstead act fails, are fake discoveries.

In the last 111 years the voluntary return to the federal government of what is popularly known as "conscience money" has amounted to the sum of $541,000. If there were some way to conscript the national conscience money due the government, we would cease worry over high taxes.

Thrift week, thrift month or even thrift year, do not suffice—it takes a thrifty life time to get by.

"The Birth of a Nation" as pictured from Southern reconstruction days, was a thriller; but wait until some enterprising film writer gets out a "picture" showing the birth of the Irish Free State.

The way Lloyd George keeps everybody guessing, indicates that had he guessed in all the Merchant's contests at the Exposition, the crafty Welshman would have won every prize.

If you are going to let enthusiasm and determination yield to discouragement and irresolution, you had as well never had the two first high impulses.

Those who enjoy jokes on prohibitions, are always those people who consider prohibition a joke.

Professed friendships that always require continued admissions as such in order to prove their genuineness, are not of the lasting kind; the genuine expresses itself in daily acts which are decidedly more positive than words can possibly be.

The race of life is not always to the swift; if swift, some valuable discoveries may be overlooked in the hurry to pass a given point.

Two Months Could Not Turn in Bed.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Finally Restored Health

Seattle, Washington.—"I had dragging pains first and could not stand on my feet, then I had chills and fever and such pains in my right side and a hard lump there. I could not turn myself in bed and could not sleep. I was this way for over two months, trying everything any one told me, until my sister brought me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly until all the hard pains had left me and I was able to be up and to do my work again. The hard lump left my side and I feel splendid in all ways. I know of many women it has helped."—Mrs. G. RICHARDSON, 4640 Orcas St., Seattle, Washington.

This is another case where Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought results after "trying everything any one told me" had failed. If you are suffering from pain, nervousness and are always tired; if you are low spirited and good for nothing, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. You may not only relieve the present distress, but prevent the development of more serious trouble.

Good Art. Good art always consists of two things: First, the observation of fact; secondly, the manifesting of human design and authority in the way that fact is told. Great and good art must unite the two; it cannot exist for a moment but in their unity.—Ruskin.

Don't "Baby" Corns
Don't get and coddle, nurse or "doctor" such annoying little things. Banish them—quickly, painlessly, forever with "GETS-IT"

Not only hard corns or soft corns but every kind of corn or callus surrenders to "Gets-It" and peels right off. It takes just a few seconds to stop the pain with two or three drops. Go to your drug store today. Get a bottle of "Gets-It." Your money back if it fails to peel them off. Used by millions. Costs but a trifle. J. Lawrence & Co., Inc., Chicago.

They Call It Thinking.
"Think for yourself," said President Lowell—and this country is, in fact, precisely the place where everybody not only thinks for himself, but for everybody else.—Boston Transcript.

WEDNESDAY CARD CLUB MEETS.

Regular club members of the Wednesday Card club enjoyed Mrs. F. S. Hunt's hospitality yesterday afternoon when she entertained at her home on Canal street. Jonquills were in evidence everywhere adding to the attractiveness of this already attractive home.

After the presentation of the club prize to Mrs. W. M. Bailey, who made highest score during the afternoon, a delicious salad course was served by Mrs. Hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lang have returned from their nuptial trip and will be at home in Decatur.

TUESDAY NIGHT BRIDGE CLUB.

Mrs. W. A. Brown was a charming hostess when she entertained the Tuesday night Rook club at her home on Church street. The reception room, living room and parlors were decorated by the use of baskets and bowls of magnificent yellow and white jonquills.

Rook was played at five tables until a late hour when luncheon cloths were placed on the tables and a salad course carrying out the yellow and white color scheme was served. At intervals during the evening candy and nuts were served. Club members and the following enjoyed this meeting: Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Pruett, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis, Mrs. Foster Pointer and Mrs. A. J. Harris.

H. B. LUNCHEON CLUB.

A delightful meeting of the H. B. Luncheon club was held at the home of Mrs. R. L. Maury Wednesday. The dining table at which the luncheon was served was centered with a bowl of yellow jonquills. After the luncheon the afternoon was spent in sewing and conversation. Miss Sabine Dupont was the only guest besides club members.

Mrs. J. R. Thomas is ill at her home on Church street.

British Women Launch Movement To Gain Control of Government

British women will "seek their own" in politics. A movement to organize a political party composed exclusively of women today is in full swing in England. The leaders, it is declared, are hopeful of gaining control of the government, inasmuch as there are 2,000,000 more women than men in Great Britain. Besides the Viscountess Rhonda, who has just been granted a seat in the House of Lords, there are other Peeresses who are entitled to seats with the Peers of the Realm. Seven of these are shown in the accompanying group. They may not, of course, take the seats to which they are entitled without an invitation from the House of Lords.

MUSIC STUDY CLUB.

MRS. L. A. NEIL, HOSTESS.

The Music Study Club held its meeting of March 8th with Mrs. L. A. Neil as hostess. With such a charming hostess the club came out in great numbers. The subject for the afternoon study was Chaminade. Mrs. Atles Hoff gave the biographical sketch. Afterward conducting the roundtable at which time in an animated way every thing of interest regarding the life of this eminent composer was brought out. Mrs. A. J. Harris displayed splendid musicianship in the Liszt Nocturne she rendered instead of a Chaminade number in which she displayed a wealth of feeling, that of which the club is truly appreciative. Accompanied by Mrs. Harris, Miss Ruth Banks sang "The Slave Song" in a pretty style that caught the fancy of the club. Mrs. Giers gave a beautiful piano number that she embroidered in that light airy way that is so pleasing to her audience.

Then followed the business when reports were made by the various committees.

Music Memory Contest.

The Music Memory contests that have been conducted in the schools have proven so very popular, will close next week. This effort of the A. F. W. C. to promote education—"Music is the strongest co-ordinating influence in education"—so says G. H. Grantland, music supervisor of New York City schools. This is but the beginning of the effort. "In the past school music fought its education against the narrow, sighted policy of educators who believed that it was either a fad or a luxury. Today the supervisor of school music is an important member of the educational faculty. Whether he can remain so depends upon the power of the individual to carry conviction with his work." One who cannot impress the community with the importance of his mission soon ceases to leave that mission.

Mrs. Elma Bussey left today for a visit to friends and relatives in Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. Robert Sittason left today for a visit to friends and relatives in Birmingham.

Miss Lou Ezell, of Pulaski, is here to attend the funeral of her brother-in-law, M. E. Woodward.

Mrs. O. Kyle returned Sunday from a visit to relatives in North Alabama.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Saturday Club will meet Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. with Mrs. E. F. Baird at her home on East Gordon Drive.

Mrs. Lewis Poynter, of Chicago, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. H. O. Troup called here by the death of her mother, Mrs. Mollie West.

Edward Earl Dickinson is ill at the home of his parents on Church street.

MRS. HARDY BURT.

CARD HOSTESS.

The Married Ladies Bridge Club met at the Lyons Hotel Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Burt as hostess. Bridge was played at three tables from 2:30 to 4 p. m. when it was found that Mrs. McNeill won the club prize, a fancy basket and Mrs. Will Watson received the guest prize, a duck of cards. Besides club members those playing were, Mrs. J. Y. Mamill, Mrs. E. W. Godbey and Mrs. Will Watson.

Mrs. E. D. Peebles will entertain this club next week.

RECEPTION FOR RECENT BRIDE.

A reception was held Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Rosenberg for Mrs. J. Lang, a recent bride. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Rosenberg called during the afternoon and evening. The house was attractively decorated in pink and white, the refreshments, ice cream and cake further carrying out the color scheme.

The occasion was enjoyed by about fifty guests.

WEDNESDAY CARD CLUB.

Miss Lucille Crutcher and Mrs. T. A. Caddell were the guests Wednesday afternoon at the meeting of the Wednesday Club held at the home of Mrs. L. E. McGregor on Bank street. Bridge was played at two tables. Late in the afternoon tempting refreshments were served by the hostess. On the count, Mrs. Caddell received a hand painted hair receiver as a memento of the meeting and Mrs. Henderson was presented the club prize which was a box of face powder.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Taylor left Wednesday for their home in Springfield, Ill., Mr. Taylor making the trip by aeroplane.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Drinkill are visiting T. T. Ashford at the Plantation near Mooresville.

Mrs. Horton is sick at the home of Mrs. Sarah Jeffries.

The young people's missionary society of the Central Methodist church was delightfully entertained by Miss Corinne Long, Wednesday afternoon.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Robert Sittason and the roll was called by Miss Corinne Long, the treasurer, after which the dues were paid. Miss Long then made her report for the month of February.

Miss Laura Schrickel gave a report of the North Alabama conference of the Woman's Missionary society held at Jasper. Miss Schrickel was one of the delegates of the young people who attended the conference.

The leader, Mrs. C. W. Black, was unable to attend this meeting on account of illness. She was missed by all the members who sincerely hope that she will be able to be with them at their next meeting.

After the business session was held the hostess served delicious refreshments. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. Edith McKnight.

Brad Bibb, of Mooresville, was the guest of relatives here Wednesday night.

Mrs. J. E. Thomas is ill at her home ill at his home on 2nd Ave., South.

Dr. J. Y. Hamill has returned from Troy, Ala., where he was called by the serious illness of his mother, Mrs. Hamill. He accompanied her to a Montgomery hospital and she is reported doing nicely.

ALLEGED GANG OF CONFIDENCE MEN PLACED ON TRIAL

(International News Service)
BIRMINGHAM, March 9.—J. H. Huntington and J. H. Connelly, two of the four members of an alleged gang of confidence men, went on trial in the United States district court here today.

The specific charge is the attempted larceny of Marshall Hinchman, of Glenwood, Ind., whom the indictment charges the conspirators attempted to "frame" at Hot Springs, Ark., in April, 1921.

Hinchman is here to testify that the two men on trial and George W. Lloyd, of Huntsville, Ala., and Chas. McCord sold him some worthless oil stock and that he was saved from the swindle by the arrest of Lloyd in Huntsville.

Postal officials are here from every part of the United States to testify regarding the nation-wide operations of the band.

ACCEPTS POSITION

Clyde Sharpe, Jr., of Hartselle, is a recent addition to the force of Sheriff J. V. May. Mr. Sharpe is a son of Office Deputy Clyde Sharpe, and will serve in the capacity of utility man.

POSTPONED

On account of bad weather the meeting of committees on the Gorgas Memorial has been postponed until Friday, March 10, at 11 a. m. at the chamber of commerce. The chairman of Morgan county, W. W. Rahm, urges committee members to attend and to be on time.

Make a Writing Pad.

A writing pad, to be successful, must be solid and of good size. A board half an inch thick, nine by twelve inches, makes the best pad. Buy half a yard of black elastic, half an inch wide, the strongest you can get, overlap the ends and sew firmly together into the form of a belt. Slip this over the end of the board. It will keep in place both blotting and writing paper and can be moved up and down the board as you need it. On a windy day it is invaluable, setting both hands free.

Peanut Not Really a Nut.

The peanut is not a nut; it is a pea. It is a trailing, straggling plant, growing from one to two feet high, with thick, angular, pale green, hairy stems and spreading branches, and it ripens its fruit or its peas or nuts, under ground. It is a strange habit. Small yellow flowers are borne at the joints where the leaves are attached to the stems and as soon as pollination takes place the flowers fade and the "peas" as it is commonly called, buries itself in the ground, where the pods develop.

YOUR HEALTH

Just What Pleurisy Is and Some of Its Variations.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health, New York City

JUST inside your chest wall, on the inner side of your ribs, is a large area which is lined with a delicate membrane called the "pleura." Suspended in this cavity are the lungs, which are covered with a closely-applied membrane. This lung-covering is also pleura. The chest-lining and lung-covering are like two pieces of silk cloth, fitting closely together, but yet entirely separate and distinct from each other.

The whole pleural membrane is smooth and like a polished and glistening surface. Slight moisture makes it slippery, so that the lung portion may readily slide and glide over the chest wall membrane. In health, such contact is without friction and without sensation of any sort. Imagine a hollow globe to be lined with the smoothest kind of patent leather. Suspend in this sphere a ball covered with flexible and perfect patent leather. Apply enough oil to moisten the leather, and you can imagine how perfect and uninterfered with would be the movements of one surface over the other.

In health, there is this smoothness and absence of friction. In disease, the pleura loses its lustre and becomes rough and granular. This secretion changes and becomes so sticky that the opposing membranes are glued together.

This condition is called "pleurisy." There are several forms of pleurisy. I shall not attempt to give you an accurate classification, which could serve no good purpose.

In general, then, there is the plastic form of pleurisy, in which there are sharp cutting pains or stitches in the side. Usually there is a dry cough and pain in coughing. In this form there is no accumulation of fluid in the chest, so it may be called "dry pleurisy."

Another form is the exudative variety. In this there forms a thick and creamy fluid, which is spread over the pleural membranes. Then there comes into the pleural space a quantity of straw-colored fluid. The quantity may be small, or it may be so great in volume as to crowd the lungs and heart, as much sometimes as two or three quarts. The third form is given a special name "empyema," or "purulent pleurisy."

In a sense, these different forms are only stages or progressions of the same disease. It may be mild attack, and stop in the first stage, plastic pleurisy, or it may go on to form an empyema. Then, if pus infection takes place there may be an empyema.

Exposure to cold or wet may lower the resistance, and then any disease-producing germ present in the system may find its chance to develop inflammation.

LARGE SUM SPENT BY RED CROSS FOR DISABLED VETS

ATLANTA, Ga., March 9.—Southern Red Cross chapters spent seven hundred thousand dollars during 1921 in assisting disabled veterans of the World War, according to figures made public here today by Harry L. Hopkins, manager of the Southern Division of the American Red Cross. In addition to this $750,000 was spent by the national headquarters through the southern division in the same work.

The Southern Division of the Red Cross includes Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana. These states have many hospitals located in them and much of the money spent was for transient ex-service men who came to the South in hope of receiving hospital treatment and who were unable to be placed in hospitals immediately.

According to figures received from Judge John Barton Payne, of Washington, chairman of the American Red

In health, there is this smoothness and absence of friction. In disease, the pleura loses its lustre and becomes rough and granular. This secretion changes and becomes so sticky that the opposing membranes are glued together.

This condition is called "pleurisy." There are several forms of pleurisy. I shall not attempt to give you an accurate classification, which could serve no good purpose.

In general, then, there is the plastic form of pleurisy, in which there are sharp cutting pains or stitches in the side. Usually there is a dry cough and pain in coughing. In this form there is no accumulation of fluid in the chest, so it may be called "dry pleurisy."

Another form is the exudative variety. In this there forms a thick and creamy fluid, which is spread over the pleural membranes. Then there comes into the pleural space a quantity of straw-colored fluid. The quantity may be small, or it may be so great in volume as to crowd the lungs and heart, as much sometimes as two or three quarts. The third form is given a special name "empyema," or "purulent pleurisy."

In a sense, these different forms are only stages or progressions of the same disease. It may be mild attack, and stop in the first stage, plastic pleurisy, or it may go on to form an empyema. Then, if pus infection takes place there may be an empyema.

Exposure to cold or wet may lower the resistance, and then any disease-producing germ present in the system may find its chance to develop inflammation.

Cross, $7,000,000 has been spent by chapters in the United States in assisting disabled veterans, and $2,782,000 was spent by the national headquarters itself during the past year.

The South has spent one tenth of the fund expended all over the United States, which, in proportion to its population is a much larger amount than that spent by chapters in any other section of the country. The amount spent by the National Headquarters is even larger in proportion to the population of the south. This fact is explained by the large number of hospitals located throughout the south, which add materially to the problem here.

The greater part of Red Cross service to the disabled, all of which is supplementary to relief accorded by the government, is accomplished by the chapters, the local organization of neighbors coming most frequently into contact with these men and their families.

The principal forms of service rendered by the Red Cross to disabled ex-service men included putting the veteran in effective relation with the government in order that he might obtain his full rights. This is often a difficult job and involves filling out numerous detailed forms and procuring necessary evidence and affidavits. Red Cross chapters also help the ex-service men and their families in time of trouble such as sickness, unemployment, legal difficulties, and destitution. Pending payment by the government of claims, chapters also stand ready to extend financial assistance when necessary.

Chapters with jurisdictions containing hospitals, district offices or training centers of the Veterans' Bureau, as so many chapters in the Southern states have, provide aid to many disabled men transiently in their territory. Such assistance frequently requires large expenditures, as it has throughout the south, with the result that many chapters under the southern division require assistance from national headquarters to finance the work.

Many chapters provide recreation and various personal comforts for veterans at training centers and in government hospitals, either individually or in co-operation with the American Legion, Knights of Columbus, and other patriotic organizations. Chapters upon request also furnish information concerning conditions at home when such information is necessary to the comfort or physical welfare of those in hospitals. The national organization maintains medical social service in hospitals and district offices of the Veterans' Bureau and national homes for disabled volunteer soldiers.

GOOD SOAP FOR LESS THAN TWO CENTS A POUND

Make It At Home By This Easy Process—Takes Less Than 30 Minutes.

Nowadays, more and more women are doing as their mothers did and are making their own soap. If you have never tried it, you will be surprised to see how easy it is to make good soap, soft soap, hard soap or floating soap, just by using kitchen scraps and waste grease together with a can of Merry War Lye, the safe and sure soapmaker.

In the old days when soap was made by the boiling process it took nearly all day to make a kettle of soap. Now it is hardly any work at all—requires no boiling—takes less than 30 minutes. Saves you money and gives you all the pure, clean soap you need for kitchen, laundry and all household purposes.

You will find simple directions for soapmaking on the label of every can of Merry War Lye—also many other recipes such as how to make lye hominy, how to soften water, how to brighten cooking utensils, etc.

Merry War Powdered Lye is also a wonderful cleaner and purifier for use about the home, barn, chicken house and cat-houses. Comes in a convenient can with revolving sitting top that cannot come off, cannot get lost, recloses tightly and preserves contents. It is economical to buy and easy to use.

Ask your dealer for Merry War Lye—be sure you get "Merry War"—the lye that has made good for 53 years.

Mrs. Caruso Tells How She Will Rear Gloria, Placing Big Emphasis On Music

By MARGERY REX
Written for International News Service

NEW YORK, March 9.—Childhood is the formative period. In youth we can acquire with ease what would make us overwhelmingly weary in adult years.

There are many children eager for learning of art kept from the fullest opportunities by circumstances or by neglect of parents or indifferent families. In the field of the arts, particularly music, such deprivation is keenly felt by many boys and girls.

Special emphasis is placed upon childhood as a study period by Mrs. Enrico Caruso, the lovely young widow of that great tenor whose voice brought beauty into so many lives and whose death made a world mourn.

Mrs. Caruso, who was Dorothy Benjamin, has settled down in New York in a new home and is interesting herself in plans for a great memorial to her husband. By means of this tribute to the dead, living talent is to be developed and aided by a million-dollar fund.

Children are like wax. "Children are like wax," says Mrs. Caruso. "They can be moulded easily. That is the principle I go on in Gloria's education. Even though lessons sometimes become tedious, that's the only way to get technique."

What do I think of the child who is away from home and music lessons? Well, I believe I read that she was 18 years old. If she were 18 and decided that she still hated music, then I should say it would be all right.

For her to stop lessons. "You know that children wouldn't go to school if their elders didn't insist upon it, and unless education is thrust upon them they would be very sorry, indeed, later in life."

Mrs. Caruso's views on the education of children are doubly interesting since she has not only her baby daughter, Gloria, to rear, but also the care of Enrico, Caruso's son, whose education was left in her hands by the tenor when they brought the boy to America. Enrico is now a student at a military academy.

Young Caruso's Education. "I believe every child should be taught to take music lessons, just as they are made to attend school," said Mrs. Caruso. "I had the same problem to decide in the case of Enrico, who didn't feel that he had a special aptitude for music. His father left the education in my hands, and I decided he should finish out five years of musical study at least."

"He's 17, nearly 18, now. He wired me the other day to ask if he couldn't give up lessons for the present and join the cavalry. I gave my consent. But he can't say to me when he is 24 or 25, 'Why didn't you make me study music?' because he will have had those years of study behind him and he can appreciate fine music."

Mrs. Caruso was asked why she had decided to return to America and educate her daughter here. At one time there was a rumor that the great tenor's widow would remain permanently in Italy.

"After all, I'm an American," she answered, "and my idea is to educate Gloria here. I like the American schools.

"Here at home I can do what I please and not be criticized. If I wish to ascertain my brother and some of his friends and some of mine I may do so. Over in Italy I would not be able to get along without a chaperon. If I lived alone, and I intend to live alone."

Gloria, when she is older, will attend a girls' school, a day school, in New York City, for six months of the year. The other six months we will spend abroad. She will have an Italian governess in Italy and a French one in France.

"The Italian girls are wonderfully educated; they become splendid housewives."

Gloria is going to mean a great deal to other young people, for her name is attached to a scholarship which will educate some boy or girl from the interest on $20,000.

Foundation Aids Poor. The late Caruso's interest in people and in music exists in his widow as well, and she is enthusiastic about the possibilities of the Caruso American Memorial Foundation, where scholarships awarded for excellence in voice culture, instrumental music and composition. The awards will be based solely on merit regardless of color, race or sex. Only the income from the fund will be used.

"The foundation," said Mrs. Caruso, "will encourage especially middle-class and poor class people to foster their children's ability in the hope that their child will be the one chosen."

"Every little dressmaker and working woman I have known seems to have made some fine sacrifice to help a relative studying music. Rich and poor alike yearn to have their chil-

CASH IS NOT ONLY TAXABLE INCOME, COLLECTOR WARNS

In filing their income tax returns for the year 1921, taxpayers must remember that taxable income is not necessarily cash. Where services are paid for with something other than money, the fair market value of the thing taken in payment is the amount to be included in income. For example, the value of merchandise received by a clerk of a grocery store as part payment for his services must be reported as income. Compensation paid an employee of a corporation in shares of stock is to be treated as if the corporation sold the stock at its market value and paid the employee in cash.

Promissory notes received in payment for services and not merely as security for such payment constitutes income to the amount of their fair market value. Living quarters and meals furnished as compensation for services are to be reported as income. A hotel clerk given a room and his meals as part payment for his services is required to report as income the amount he would have to pay for board and lodging elsewhere.

The value of quarters, light and heat furnished army officers, whether stationed at an army post or paid from funds allowed for such purposes when officers are stationed elsewhere is taxable income in an amount equal to the cost to the government of furnishing such quarters, etc. Where an officer or enlisted man is allowed certain commutation in lieu of quarters, light and heat, the entire amount received for such purposes for the taxable year must be included in gross income.

Where living quarters, food, clothing, etc., are provided for an employee in lieu of the convenience of an employer, the value thereof need not be included in the income of the employee. For example, where because of the location and nature of the work it is necessary that employees engaged in fishing and canning be armed board and lodging by the employer, the value of such board and lodging may be considered as contributed for the convenience of the employer. Board and lodging furnished to men in addition to their other compensation is held to be furnished for the convenience of the employer, and its value need not be reported in the returns of such employees.

Uniforms, rations and medical or hospital service afforded enlisted men or seamen need not be reported as income. These are furnished by the government for its own purposes, and are not compensation for services.

The value of board and lodging furnished employees of hospitals as part compensation for services is to be reported as income. If, however, an employee of a hospital is subject to immediate service on demand at any time during the twenty-four hours of the day, and on that account is obliged to accept quarters and meals at the hospital, the value of such need not be reported as income. If, the employee is on duty a certain number of hours, and could, if desired, obtain meals and lodging elsewhere than at the hospital and at the same time perform the duties required of him, the ratable value of the board and lodging furnished him is considered additional compensation.

The value of quarters, subsistence, laundry, heat and light furnished officers and employees of the Public Health Service constitutes income and must be included in their returns for the year.

To avoid penalty, returns must be filed on or before midnight of March 15.

Youngstown Reform Mayor Is Not Satisfied By His Work

(International News Service)
YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, March 9.—"I am not satisfied with my administration thus far," declared Mayor Geo. L. Oles, in an interview with the International News Service, in reviewing his first month in office. "You see I'm bound hand and foot by civil service regulations. If I could only say to Police Chief James Watkins: 'Come Jim, get your money, you're fired!' as I would do in my private business, I'd get somewhere. As it is I have to fight 16 quack lawyers, the politicians, bootleggers and the underworld."

The mayor finds himself at the end of his second month in office the center of an imbroglio due to the changes he has attempted to institute. He faces the biggest fight in his life, with the political interests of both parties massing their forces against him. Though fighting virtually alone, Oles has public sentiment preponderantly with him.

During his unique campaign last fall Oles promised that he would reduce the municipal expenses, would eliminate superfluous offices and would reorganize the police department. He intimated that he would have a private conference with Police Chief James Watkins, which might result in the latter's dismissal. He promised to wage war on bootleggers, gamblers, immoral women and to clean out the underworld. He said he would treat the rich and poor alike.

Makes Good Start
Oles has made a good start toward redeeming these promises. He has asked the police department to accept a horizontal wage reduction of 10 per cent and has requested the co-operation of the city council in reducing and readjusting salaries of all other municipal employees. Council has tackled the problem reluctantly, most of the councilmen having their ears to the ground.

The mayor likewise made a start toward cleaning out the underbriables, though he claims to be handicapped in this respect by failure of the police, under Chief Watkins, to co-operate as they should. As an outcome of this situation Oles has suspended Watkins and says he is prepared to force his dismissal. The latter is fighting the move and has openly expressed contempt of the mayor. It will be a fish fight, as Watkins is regarded as an astute politician.

Oles finds that he is seriously handicapped by civil service regulations, which prevent him from doing many things that he would do if he were operating his own business. The civil service commission consists of "hold-overs" from the previous administration and the members have displayed no particular friendliness toward Oles.

Try to Discredit Him
Pressure of all kinds is being put forth to weaken Oles and to discredit him. He denies reports circulated to the effect that he will resign and says they are put forward by his enemies. "I will follow the motto I learned when a boy," declared the mayor, "If at first you don't succeed, try try again."

Even the mayor's enemies are surprised at his fighting qualities, which they never suspected he possessed. Oles says he has just started and will carry out his pre-election pledges if it takes ever ounce of energy he possesses.

"The politicians and the underworld of Youngstown can't scare me and can't swerve me from my purpose," declared Oles.

He has also called on all city departments to reduce the number of their working forces.

Tax Experts Will Aid Local People

Deputy Collectors L. Cunningham and John D. Elliot, of the government revenue service, are here to aid local people in the preparation of their income tax reports.

The collectors will be at the Princess theatre on March 9, 10, 12 and at the Decatur postoffice on March 13, 14 and 15, and will be glad to help, without charge, any individuals who desire their service, they stated.
Announcement was made today that the time limit on the filing of income tax reports for corporations and partnerships has been extended until May 15. The time limit on individual returns, however, expires on March 15. Mr. Cunningham has been assigned to this district, making his home in Decatur, and will be glad to aid persons desiring his services after March 15.

THE MYSTIC THREE

There are three words, the sweetest words

In all the human speech—
More than all the songs of birds,
Or pages poets preach.

This life may be a vale of tears,
A sad and dreary thing—
Three words and trouble disappears,
And birds begin to sing.

Three words and all the roses bloom,
The sun begins to shine;
Three words will dissipate the gloom,
And waters turn to wine.

Three words will cheer the saddest days;
"I love you!" Wrong, by heck!
It is another, sweeter phrase:
"Enclosed—find—check."

The cost of living was much lower

Two Officers Are Fined $200 Each

(Montgomery Bureau,
Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 9—
J. W. Lowe, city detective of Atlanta, and W. R. Scarbrough, state law enforcement agent, were fined $200 and costs each in the court of common pleas today for assault and battery on Alston H. Pickett, prominent travelling salesman of Montgomery. They appealed to the circuit court and were released on bond.

Lowe and Scarbrough were searching for stolen automobiles on the Luverne highway about 20 miles from Montgomery when Pickett came up in his car. Pickett claims he was attacked without cause and that Scarbrough struck Pickett only after Pickett had cursed him.

No one was with Pickett in his car
at the time of the fight. Scarbrough admitted that he "slapped" Pickett
but contended that he did it only after the latter had cursed him.

His "Graven Image"
It is quite true that some people adhere so strictly to their own reading of Biblical laws that they refuse to have their photographs taken. There were a few people in the crowd at Exodus 20:—Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of anything, whether of man, or of beast, or of creeping creature, or of fowls of the air, or
of any thing that is in the earth
above, or in the earth below, or in the water under the earth: Thou shalt not bow down unto them, nor serve them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, punishing the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me.
Thou shalt keep thy commandments,
for thou shalt know that thou art
a man of war, and that thou shalt
be a man of war, and that thou shalt be a man of war, and that thou shalt be a man of war, and that thou shalt be a man of war,
and that thou shalt be a man of

"Here's The Big Noise"

If values can talk you'll have to hold your ears when you get near our Boys' Department. The advertisements in the papers have been full of talk about values in Suits and Shoes, but these are going to talk for themselves—and they'll make some noise! We are prepared to take care of the boy in his every need and will give him the same courteous treatment that we do the grown ups. We have also added to our Boys' Department a complete line of Ladies' "Triple wear" silk hose in all shades.

Alice B. Williams Wins $20 Prize

Here are the Prize Winners in The Albany-Decatur Daily Essay Page Contest.

First prize: Alice B. Williams	$20.00
Second prize: Mildred Moebs	$10.00
Third prize: Marjory Finn Pointer	$ 5.00
Fourth prize: Baby Bess Bailey	$ 3.00
Fifth prize: Mildred McEldey	$ 2.00
Sixth prize: Susie Mae Free	$ 2.00
Seventh prize: Inez Oden	$ 2.00
Eighth prize: Aleen Byars	$ 2.00
Ninth prize: Francis Himes	$ 2.00
Tenth prize: Inez Thombs	$ 2.00

Judging the awards was not easy—the competition for the prize money was keen, and it was especially hard for the judges to decide between first and second places. Judging was conducted "in the dark" insofar as the identity of the contestants, as the entrants had pinned their names on separate sheets to their letters, which were removed before passing the essays on to the judges. The prize winning essays will be printed on this page beginning next Thursday and running one a week.

Youngstown Reform Mayor Is Not Satisfied By His Work

(International News Service)
YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, March 9.—"I am not satisfied with my administration thus far," declared Mayor Geo. L. Oles, in an interview with the International News Service, in reviewing his first month in office. "You see I'm bound hand and foot by civil service regulations. If I could only say to Police Chief James Watkins: 'Come Jim, get your money, you're fired!' as I would do in my private business, I'd get somewhere. As it is I have to fight 16 quack lawyers, the politicians, bootleggers and the underworld."

The mayor finds himself at the end of his second month in office the center of an imbroglio due to the changes he has attempted to institute. He faces the biggest fight in his life, with the political interests of both parties massing their forces against him. Though fighting virtually alone, Oles has public sentiment preponderantly with him.

During his unique campaign last fall Oles promised that he would reduce the municipal expenses, would eliminate superfluous offices and would reorganize the police department. He intimated that he would have a private conference with Police Chief James Watkins, which might result in the latter's dismissal. He promised to wage war on bootleggers, gamblers, immoral women and to clean out the underworld. He said he would treat the rich and poor alike.

Makes Good Start
Oles has made a good start toward redeeming these promises. He has asked the police department to accept a horizontal wage reduction of 10 per cent, and has requested the co-operation of the city council in reducing and readjusting salaries of all other municipal employees. Council, has tackled the problem reluctantly, most of the councilmen having their ears to the ground.

The mayor likewise made a start toward cleaning out the underbribe, though he claims to be handicapped in this respect by failure of the police, under Chief Watkins, to co-operate as they should. As an outcome of this situation Oles has suspended Watkins and says he is prepared to force his dismissal. The latter is fighting the move and has openly expressed contempt of the mayor. It will be a final fight, as Watkins is regarded as an astute politician.

Oles finds that he is seriously handicapped by civil service regulations, which prevent him from doing many things that he would do if he were operating his own business. The civil service commission consists of "hold-overs" from the previous administration and the members have displayed no particular friendliness toward Oles.

Try to Discredit Him
Pressure of all kinds is being put forth to weaken Oles and to discredit him. He denies reports circulated to the effect that he will resign and says they are put forward by his enemies. "I will follow the motto I learned when a boy," declared the mayor, "If at first you don't succeed, try try again."

Even the mayor's enemies are surprised at his fighting qualities, which they never suspected he possessed. Oles says he has just started and will carry out his pre-election pledges if it takes ever ounce of energy he possesses.

"The politicians and the underworld of Youngstown can't scare me and can't swerve me from my purpose," declared Oles.

He has also called on all city departments to reduce the number of their working forces.

THE MYSTIC THREE

There are three words, the sweetest words—

In all the human speech—

More than all the songs of birds,

Or pages poets preach.

This life may be a vale of tears,

A sad and dreary thing—

Three words and trouble disappears,

And birds begin to sing.

Three words and all the roses bloom,

The sun begins to shine;

Three words will dissipate the gloom,

And waters turn to wine.

Three words will cheer the saddest days;

"I love you!" Wrong, by heck!

It is another, sweeter phrase:

"Enclosed—find—check."

The cost of living was much lower in the good old days when the ice wagon hibernated through the winter.

Anyway, you can't say that members of the local strang-hangers social club haven't got a pull that lands them somewhere.

Al Snyder sez: It's dern peculiar that farmers can't feed $7.00 hogs on 37 cent corn and make a profit, when they all made money feedin' $2.00 corn to $20.00 hogs.

Joe, the plodder, says it's all right to have air castles providing you have enough nerve and push to put cement foundations under them.

"What's the weather forecast?"

"Both parties are freely predicting harmony."

"She shook like a leaf," says a popular novelist, describing a debutante at the opera.

Well, weren't her limbs bare?

Pome

I have no use for the guys that swat the luck,

And daily bemoan their lot, and spring a whine,

Just gimme a shirt and a pair of pants, an open field,

An even chance, and I'll get mine.

Advice from Amos Tash: When you get a girl be careful whose girl you get.

College graduates make the best chorus girls, Flo Zeigfeld says.

Probably because they have better understanding.

Henry Ford wants to abolish money. Money? Money? Seems like we do remember something by that name.

We don't like this term "Flapper" applied promiscuously to girls. Not all girls are Flappers, but so far as we have been able to discover all Flappers are girls.

Perhaps women's minds are cleaner than men's because they change them oftener.

AUTOIST'S WINTER PRAYER

Now I go out into the cold,

I pray the Lord my tires hold;

If one should bust before I'm back I pray a spare is on the rack.

Will Hays is going to inspect the Hollywood movies. Bet his wife goes along.

"Why is your wife so jealous of your stenographer?"

"She used to be my stenographer."

She Knew a Hog

A woman was waiting to buy a ticket for a concert when a man bumped into her. "She glared at him, feeling it was done intentionally."

"Well," he growled, "you needn't eat me up."

"You are perfectly safe," said she. "I am a Jewess."

If Mr. Bryan should get the Democratic nomination for senator from Florida it would be his luck to have Florida go Republican.

Edison says he is going to work until he is 90. But then Edison is a light worker.

If Fatty Arbuckle is at all superstitious he may be able to get a few thrills out of the fact that his third trial is to begin on March 13th.

Current report has it that Thomas A. Edison passed the 75 watt mark last month.

Do you like mystery fiction? Wait until you get your income tax blanks.

Al Snyder sez: Ever notice how some of these hot headed guys cool off when they get home.

The job doesn't make the man; it's the big man who makes the big job.

FATE

By Particeps

Snooks gazed somberly at the dying embers in the fireplace. One hand supported his chin, the other lying lax on his knee, held between listless fingers a note which read:

"Dear John:—The bird in the cage has flown and the prisoner has battered down the barrier to her freedom. I have eloped with the butler. Now I am free to soar into the blue ether, dancing gayly along behind the little pipes which beckon to greener fields."

It was signed by his wife.

He pondered sadly. "She always would mix her metaphors," he said.

Hardly any motorist believe in signals such as this: Speed Limit 15 Miles an Hour.

A Kansas girl who has many friends in Kansas City sailed yesterday from New York for a trip along the Mediterranean and most of those who knew of her departure sent her telegrams to ward off early homesickness. One of the telegrams read: "When you get to the desert, beware of the Shiek."

A girl can go upstairs and "dress" for two hours and then come down wearing the clothes she had on when she went up to "dress."

This Looks Serious

Judge—What's this man charged with, officer?

Cop—Careless walkin', yer honor.

He bumped into a truck and bent both fenders and the radiator.

Success is keeping ahead of most people in earning money and a little behind them in spending it.

It used to be that one half of the world didn't know what the other half was doing. But now we know. They are hunting jobs.

Evangeline Booth declares that the girl who powders her nose is dishonest. But the girl who doesn't soon gets the name of being slick, so naturally, the majority choose the lesser evil.

Something Turned Up

With trembling hand and fluttering heart,

By mail he did propose;

And waited for what might turn up—

Alas! It was her nose.

Advice from Amos Tash: All bootleggers should be sentenced to drink their own stuff.

Al Snyder sez: Many a natural born comedian has made a darn fool outta himself tryin' to act funny.

Two Officers Are Fined $200 Each

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 9.—J. W. Lowe, city detective of Atlanta, and W. R. Scarbrough, state law enforcement agent, were fined $200 and costs each in the court of common pleas today for assault and battery on Alston H. Pickett, prominent traveling salesman of Montgomery. They appealed to the circuit court and were released on bond.

Lowe and Scarbrough were searching for stolen automobiles on the Lurverne highway about 20 miles from Montgomery when Pickett came up in his car. Pickett claims he was attacked without cause and that Scarbrough struck him while Lowe held him. The detectives contended that Scarbrough struck Pickett only after Pickett had cursed him.

No one was with Pickett in his car at the time of the fight. Scarbrough admitted that he "slapped" Pickett but contended that he did it only after the latter had cursed him.

His "Graven Image"

It is quite true that some people adhere so strictly to their own reading of Biblical laws that they refuse to have their photographs taken. These very particular people insist that Exodus 20:4—"Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of anything"—forbids the taking of photographs or the painting of portraits.

Mortgage Tax Is Cut By State

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 9.—The Louisville and Nashville railroad will be required to pay a mortgage tax on only $12,000,000 of a $210,000,000 mortgage which will be filed for record in Alabama during the next few days as a result of a decision of the state board of compromise today.

While the railroad, under the mortgage, is permitted to borrow $210,000,000 for general improvements it will obtain only $12,000,000, the loan having been restricted to this amount by the intrastate commerce commission. The board of compromise ruled that it would be justice to require the railroad to pay the recording fee only on the amount of money actually obtained by the mortgage. The additional recording fees will be collected as the railroad obtains additional funds.

Tax Experts Will Aid Local People

Deputy Collectors L. Cunningham and John D. Elliot, of the government revenue service, are here to aid local people in the preparation of their income tax reports.

The collectors will be at the Princess theatre on March 9, 10, 12 and at the Decatur postoffice on March 13, 14 and 15, and will be glad to help, without charge, any individuals who desire their service, they stated.

Announcement was made today that the time limit on the filing of income tax reports for corporations and partnerships has been extended until May 15. The time limit on individual returns, however, expires on March 15. Mr. Cunningham has been assigned to this district, making his home in Decatur, and will be glad to aid persons desiring his services after March 15.

The Three Day Test

—How It Showed Me The Way To New Life And Tireless Energy

THOUSANDS of men and women—once thin, exhausted and run-down—now know the way to new life and sparkling vitality. And this way is now offered you entirely free, to try, dead for the amazing Three Day Test of Ironized Yeast. Then get ready for a surprise!

One Woman's Experience

From all sides comes reports of the remarkable results secured through Ironized Yeast. The following unlisted letter is typical of the hundreds we are receiving.

"I received your trial package of Ironized Yeast last week and I cannot tell you how much better I feel. Before I finished the trial I knew it was helping me, so I purchased a full package."

"My husband is just delighted with the improvement in me. He tells me I have more life now than I ever had. Why, I always used to feel 'all in' after my housework, but now I can do more work than ever, and never feel the least bit tired. Ironized Yeast is simply divine!"

—And thousands of others tell the same story.

The Reason Behind the Results

The reason Ironized Yeast brings such amazing results in so many cases is because it not only contains just the right amount of all the essential vitamins, but in addition contains a type of yeast which has positively no equal as a reconstructive agent—a yeast

which is cultured expressly for medicinal purposes, and which is entirely different from the yeast found in ordinary yeast tablets."

But even more important than this is the fact that this yeast has been ironized—or treated through a scientific process with a special form of easily assimilated organic iron, similar to the iron found in spinach. When yeast is ironized in this manner it is found that results are not only more permanent, but are secured just twice as quickly!

Make This Amazing Test

Mail coupon for the amazing Three Day Free Trial Treatment of Ironized Yeast. Then watch the results! Note how it immediately increases your appetite and how quickly you begin putting on good firm flesh. See how quickly pimples, blackheads, etc., disappear and how your newly acquired "pep" makes hard work or play a pleasure instead of a task. Try IRONIZED YEAST today! Pleasant to take—will not cause gas or in any way upset your stomach. Special directions for children. Mail coupon now!

PATROLMAN ROPES STRAY DOGS WITH HIS LASSO

(International News Service.)
NEW YORK, March 9.—Patrolman Edward Traynor didn't come from Texas, but he's "champeen" lariat thrower of New York and has become a terror to stray dogs. As a dog-catcher, Traynor has become the pride of "Gotham's finest." Because stray canines were speedier afoot than he, Traynor invented the system of lassoing the mongrels. On his vacation he went to the Catskills and roped steers, becoming adept at the art. And many Bronx dogs have heard the singing of his lariat.

Red Ink for Emperors Alone.
The Roman emperor used a very expensive red ink in writing signatures, and its use was prohibited to all others except that their sons, if of adult age, could use it; otherwise they must have recourse to green ink.

of Congress, by lower courts claiming "no jurisdiction." The speaker made it plain that while the 18th federal constitutional amendment could never be changed, that a wet Congress could do incalculable harm from a good government and common decency standpoint. Dr. Calvin showed where 2,200 attempts had failed to amend the federal constitution since its ratification, and that of all the ten or a dozen amendments actually made the 18th was passed by the largest and most emphatic majority, and that still by shrewd play of the "balance of power" political scheme, by indirect where party primaries mean election, and by alliances with ignorant people, politicians, and the "interests" it was possible to nullify the Volstead act. The speaker told of the futile attempt of the "wet" to defeat Volstead by running a so-called minister of the Gospel against him in the 10th Minnesota district, in the hope that a "wet" chairman of the House Judiciary committee would succeed Mr. Volstead. The speaker traced the organizations of the "wet" in 1862, and of the "dry" in 1934, up to the present time, declaring that prior to the organization of the "wets" there was little or no corruption in American politics.

Regan Draws Cheers

Frank Regan drew enthusiastic cheers when in the course of his discourse he said: "I have been showing you where English brewers owned and still own the whiskey interests in America, and I come down here and find the English chief owners of Muscle Shoals. I promise you to go back to Chicago and raise a rumpus, to see that you get what you want at Muscle Shoals. Northern people who are right, are just as anxious for you to get a square deal as anybody."

Mr. Regan accounted for the sneers of Lord Northcliffe, and many other English visitors to America against prohibition on the ground that we were keeping our money in American now, instead of shipping the hundred of millions to England for whiskey. He said that we were worth $220,000,000,000 now to the English $120,000,000,000 and that the big increase had come to us over the English since we voted dry. He showed how the Christmas trade in Chicago had gone forward by leaps and bounds since prohibition came into effect—that it had been reduced 60 percent.

"The 20,000,000 drinkers in America before the 18th amendment are now cut to 1,000,000 under prohibition," declared the speaker. The speaker showed from official records in his possession that "Hinky-Dinky," the deposed Chicago alderman worth millions including a 17 story building paid taxes on only $300, the same the speaker said he paid on his piano; and that the saloons of a large district of the city of Chicago, paid not one cent of taxes, which he had to pay $1.00 on a small dog, and that poor widows had to pay $13 on their sewing machines, and work in sweat shops to boot! By figures and ridicule, Regan attacked those who claim that the return of liquor is necessary in order to pay the taxes and the soldier bonus. He showed how the state of Illinois ran for over 10 years on a 1 percent taxation basis, and that every state could do the same "IF EVERYBODY AND EVERY BUSINESS IS MADE PAY THEIR JUST TAXES." It was in this connection that the speaker made another attack on the Alabama Power Company.

Mr. Regan said only two classes did not like him "those who beat their taxes and the whiskeyites." This speaker claimed that Samuel Gompers was betraying the working people in favoring wines and beer. Frequently in showing the exorbitant profits made on beer and whiskey and always off the poor and weak willed, the speaker would declare what a gentleman Jesse James used to be in comparison, as Jesse robbed only those who had the ready cash.

Big Attendance Sought At Lunch

The result of the two team attendance drive of the Kiwanis club was apparent today when the club held its regular weekly meeting at the club rooms at noon when lunch was served. J. W. Clifton captains one team, while Frank Cook captains the other.

TWO CONVICTS WHO ESCAPED PRISON AT KILBY RECAPTURED

(International News Service.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 9.—Two of four white convicts who escaped from the state prison at Camp Kilby early this morning are still at large, following their departure, effected by sawing a hole through the iron floor of their cell.

Fred Dodson and Eugene Wright, both Jefferson county prisoners, serving terms for burglary, made good their escape while Walter Smith, Talladega county man, serving a sentence for forgery, and Fred Benning, Calhoun county, convicted of grand larceny, were recaptured shortly after their escape.

Telephone lines were out of order at the time of the escape, which made his chase more difficult. Rewards of $50 have been offered for the recapture of the fugitives.

BONUS BILL MAY PASS THE HOUSE BY MARCH 20TH

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The soldier bonus bill will be passed by the house Monday, March 20, unless plan-completed by house Republican leaders today are changed.

It is confidently believed that the bill will get far more than the required two thirds majority of all vote cast.

COTTON MARKET OPENS QUIETLY

NEW YORK, March 9.—Dealings were quiet at the opening of the cotton market today. First prices were four to five points lower. To some extent good rains in Texas and another drop in sterling exchange influenced selling.

A little foreign buying constituted the chief support, while the South was a seller of old crop months. There were no notices. Later the list held steady with little change from initial levels.

THREE-MINUTE JOURNEYS

Where Black Teeth Are the Great Pride of Women of Fashion

By TEMPLE MANNING

KING'S SQUARE in Batavia, the capital of Java, presents an interesting and colorful picture on a Sunday morning. It is then that the natives appear in their best and gather in groups around the ice-cream stands. Their costumes represent all the colors of the rainbow, with bright green and scarlet as the favorites. The richest materials are used in their dress. Silk and metallic cloths are employed for the sarong, which is worn by both men and women.

Two Beauties of Java.

The traveler is fascinated by these delicate beauties of Java, whose dainty-colored dresses, shimmering with gold and silver threads, bring out the clear brown of their complexions and add lustre to their shining black hair. However attractive one of these ladies may be at a distance, the westerner has a shock upon nearing her to find that her teeth are black. Her lips are painted scarlet, and a smile reveals pitch-black teeth with a stove-polish shine! The Javanese poets sing of the beauty of the black teeth of the women of their country. They consider white teeth vulgar and unclean. To be beautiful, a Javanese woman files down her teeth to render them less conspicuous, and lacquers them with a heavy black shellac. Imagine the pain of the filing process! Imagine the discomfort and unpleasant taste as the beauty waits for the shellac to dry! But the result is all that can be desired—from the Javanese point of view. As she swings along with her graceful swaying walk, holding a beaded nut in her mouth, the Javanese lady may smile with charming assurance, because her teeth are the fashionable shining black.

HARTSELLE BUREAU OF ALBANY-DECATUR DAILY

All machinery with which to build the east pike has been concentrated at the extreme end of the work, and actual work will commence Friday morning. At this time a force of men and teams will begin to put crushed rock down. The crusher has been running at the quarry for several days past, and it is the intention to carry the work forward as fast as men and teams can load and haul rock.

The city is to be congratulated on the promptness with which the stretch road leading toward Albany-Decatur was repaired. Monday morning the work was begun, and as fast as it could be done the highway within the corporate limits of the town was put in a fine shape.

At a meeting of Hartselle business men held recently in the chamber of commerce rooms, a booster club was organized consisting of the initial organization of 55 business men. The activities of the new organization will be along the lines of similar clubs at other places. The idea is to put on a premium contest to run well into the summer months, giving a premium every two weeks for 32 weeks. A grand prize at the end of the campaign will be awarded. There will be intensive advertising campaigns inaugurated, and other features brought into action to boost business during the summer, having in mind the great benefits to be derived from an advertising and boosting campaign, culminating at the cotton season, when business is always good.

The ball ground on the Morgan county high school campus is being put in shape for the coming season, and a team has already been organized. A new fence is being erected to enclose the grounds, new grandstand will be built, the grounds smoothed and otherwise put in first class condition. The same ground has been used as a ball field and athletic grounds for some time, but improvements will be made that will make it much better for either than heretofore.

The annual inspection of Troop C 109th Alabama cavalry was held recently, Captain Berthelet, of Atlanta, Ga., inspector in charge. The boys made a splendid showing, being rated as very good in every department. A thorough inspection was made of equipment, quarters, drills were held, and what is called a show down inspection was thoroughly given. Considerable improvement is being made at the armory. Shower baths are being installed, fire hydrant planted, and summer quarters for the horses being made, sheds being built around the armory.

Chester I. Lee, who for a number of years has furnished water power for the town, is increasing the capacity and power, having quite recently mounted the water tank 20 feet higher which will enable him to furnish water to any two story building in town. The city is making arrangements to have some fire hydrants installed, buying the necessary fire hose to use in fighting fire. The city has never installed waterworks, but the present arrangements, when completed, will go a long way toward furnishing adequate equipment with which to protect property in case of fire. The water bucket brigade has made quite a reputation at Hartselle for fighting fires, many times saving property which seemed beyond human power to do.

The schools of Hartselle are active at work formulating the program to be carried out at the field day exercises to be held at the Morgan county athletic grounds April 7th. The exercises which are an annual event participated in by all the schools of the county have always been extremely interesting and instructive, and this season's effort promises to eclipse anything previously held. The parade is always a feature of the day, participated in by several thousand school children with banners and floats, makes a most inspiring scene.

A "tacky party," given under the auspices of the local P. T. A., will be held at the city school building Friday night, March 10. The following invitation has been sent: When you see this paper don't turn up your nose, But dress yourself in your tackiest clothes, And come to the party all tattered and torn, As no one's admitted unless he's forlorn. The party begins 1 minute of eight; Be there on time and stay until late. The funniest lady will capture a prize, The clowniest man has a chance if he tries. Prizes varying from one to five cents will be assessed on those who dare anew the east pike has been concentrated at the extreme end of the work, and actual work will commence Friday morning. Advertising Pays, Firemen Are Busy

You simply cannot down the old adage, "advertising pays." The little reading notice in The Daily yesterday stating the fire department was having a long lull in business, they having made no runs or received any alarms since February 17. While the boys of the department were reading the notice, the alarm sounded and out they went to the home of J. D. Bradford at 1214 2nd Ave. South. Small damage however resulted. Sparks on the roof was the cause.

Matlock Plans To Have a Pig Skow

J. P. Matlock, prominent local merchant, is planning to have a pig show here during the summer. The plan follows one adopted by Mr. Matlock sometime ago to aid in stocking the county with pure bred pigs. He went to Tennessee last year and bought some thoroughbred Poland China hogs, giving them to county boys with the understanding that he was to get all of the sows of the first litter. He now has applications from youngsters in Morgan, Lawrence, Limestone and Cullman counties. At this time Mr. Matlock has chosen away seven sows.

Guard Acquitted In Robbery Slaying
(International News Service.)
PENSACOLA, Fla., March 8.—Private Thomas Willis, of the Marine corps, who shot and killed a white man at Blanchard, La., last December, while on guard in a small car, has been acquitted of the charge and restored to duty.

This information was given out from the naval air station today, following the publication of the verdict in Washington. The marine claimed that he was carrying out orders of the postoffice department in protecting the mails and the "shoot to kill" order, which had been issued, was carried out when the Blanchard man refused to vacate and continued to approach the guard when ordered to halt.

Your Prescription

WHEN MEDICINE FAILS to produce the expected results, there is a temptation to blame your doctor and to believe that he is not giving you the proper treatment.

It does not occur to you that the fault may lie with the inferior quality of the drugs and chemicals used in compounding your prescription. But as a matter of fact, unless these are of the highest quality, your doctor's prescription does not have a chance to do its work satisfactorily.

To insure reliability in our prescriptions we use the pure drugs and chemicals of E. R. Squibb & Sons, known throughout the world for their high standard of quality. You can have full confidence in a prescription prepared here.
